"But This Is the Fine Furniture--- IW ant to See the Medium-Priced Pieces"

Said a woman at this February Sale last Saturday.

She didn't wait to examine the price tags. The furniture looked fine (it was fine). And it seemed to her that it must be expensive. But it was not.

She was looking at the medium-priced furniture, and didn't realize it.

This February Sale is bearing fruit we didn't quite foresce when we originated it. Then, it was to keep factories going and give our customers the benefit of real economies. Now, it has taken onwith us, at least—the nature of a Na-tional exposition of all grades of furniture, the good grades.

At-bear in mind-10 to 50 per cent. below usual.

No wonder people who have not seen the furniture on these three great cityblock-wide-and-avenue-block-long Galleries, cannot quite realize what good furniture may be bought for little money.

Here Is Some of It

One of the largest hat manufacturers in the country, with whom formerly we did business, is particularly desirous to reopen business relations on a large scale

Recently we asked him to show us what he had which would induce us to resume relations. Just at that moment he had on hand about 100 dozen stiff hat bodies, hats made to sell, finished.

$3.50, $4 and better. He offered us these hats at a price low enough to enable us to give our customers one of the best hat values ever given.

We took them; had them trimmed with better silk bands, bindings and leathers than are to be found in the average $3.50 derby; and finished more carefully.
